Hello everyone,

Our concert season will be upon us this Sunday. Jim Hall will lead. Bruce our favorite trombone player is back after recovering from a serious accident.

Big news! The USC School of Music is asking for our help to raise money for a scholarship honoring two of our favorite people. Below is the request.

Hi Jerry,

My name is Brad Martin, and I'm reaching out from the USC School of Music. Dick and Winkie Goodwin asked me to share some exciting news with you: we have established a scholarship in their honor to support talented students in collaborative piano and composition.

Our goal is to raise enough to endow the Goodwin Scholarship, ensuring it will provide support to students for generations to come. Thanks to a generous anonymous donor, every gift will be matched dollar-for-dollar up to $5,000—bringing us closer to the $25,000 needed for full endowment.

This scholarship is especially meaningful to Winkie, who is deeply passionate about helping piano students thrive at USC. The Goodwin Scholarship will open doors for collaborative pianists and composers who need financial support to pursue their studies here.

Recently, I spoke with a collaborative piano student who shared her excitement about her future. She has already accompanied a master's opera recital and performed with our symphony orchestra—just one example of the incredible talent this scholarship will nurture.

If you'd like to support the Goodwin Scholarship, please use the secure link below to make your donation. Your gift will help ensure that many more students can follow in Dick and Winkie's footsteps.

Thank you so much for considering this opportunity to honor Dick and Winkie's legacy. Please let me know if you have any questions or if you encounter any issues with the donation link.

Thank you so much,
Brad
